

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

Maintaining diverse media is critical to the survival of our Democracy. If citizen's don't have access to diverse points of view, they won't be able to participate fully in public debate and won't have the information they need to cast their votes. Ownership of media is already too highly concentrated. We need to maintain current FCC regulations in order to prevent further consolidation of media.
